

EMGS syllabi at Roskilde University (RUC)

EMGS at RUC begin with an Introduction Day at your Global Studies programme (EMGS) at RUC. It is a common introduction for all Master students at Department of Social Sciences and Business, where you receive all relevant information on your study.

You can find the date and full schedule for your Introduction Day in RUC course catalogue on study.ruc.dk (Introduction Day to be published mid-August, select your study programme under 'Master's programmes – Single-Subject Master's – Global Studies').

All study activities of EMGS/Global Studies in the Autumn semester will be available in April in the RUC course catalogue. Until then you can always get an idea about the offers and detailed course descriptions by looking at the study activities from previous year in the course catalogue (select your study programme under 'Master's programmes – Single-Subject Master's – Global Studies').

You have the following study activities on the four EMGS semesters at RUC (note EMGS differ slightly from Global Studies (GS) semester):

Autumn semester (1st EMGS semester)

- Foundation course in Global Studies (10 ECTS)
- Project 1: Perspectives (15 ECTS)
- Winter school (5 ECTS)

Spring semester (2nd EMGS semester)

- Global Studies Seminar or Optional Method Course I (5 ECTS)
- Optional course: Advanced study seminar (10 ECTS)
- Optional course: Advanced study seminar (10 ECTS)
- Summer school (5 ECTS)

Autumn semester (3rd EMGS semester)

- Optional course: Advanced study course (10 ECTS)
- Optional course: Seminar in Global Studies or Method Course II (5 ECTS)

- For more information on thesis see RUC intranet.

You can register for courses and projects at STADS Online Student Services. The course and project registration period for new master's students is from 1-31 August.

If you have any questions about the study activities, you can find guidance and answers on RUC intranet at Study administration. You can also get help to sign-up for the study activities by contact on email: ise-studyadministration@ruc.dk.

Welcome Foundation Course

We strongly encourage you to participate in the Welcome Foundation Course. Many international students participate in the Welcome Foundation Course and appreciate this course for the rest of the semester. The Foundation Course gives you information on how to study and live in Denmark. The course takes place from mid-August. Find further information about the Welcome Foundation Course, how to sign up and more here.
